Fishing Trips

Reef fishing (3 hours) – takes place 3/4 miles off the coast (at 20 to 30 meters depth) with the vessel anchored. It's a type of fishing where the bait stays at the bottom, close to the reefs, for the capture of a greater variety of fish, for example: mackerel, black sea bream, white bream, horse mackerel, grouper, conger, snapper, amongst others. The bait used is shrimp and common cockle.

Shark fishing (6 hours) – takes place at high seas (10 miles off the coast) fishing a variety of shark species, such as, blue shark, short fin mako, amongst others. The bait used is sardines.
